PRESS RELEASE:

Giro d'Italia winner on the road participates at the Südtirol Dolomiti Superbike

Villabassa, Italy, July 5th, 2007 - He should be in London really at the start of the Tour the France 2007. But Gilberto Simoni, the italian road cycling professional and winner of two Giro d'Italia , who once in a while also does mountain bike races, next weekend starts at the UCI MTB Marathon World Cup in South Tyrol (Italy). „I'm very curios and that's why I'm coming to Niederdorf to have a look at the track on Friday“, says GB. It's his premiere at the Südtirol Dolomiti Superbike, although he already participated at the WC opening in Gran Canaria in march. „Mountainbike is my great passion“, Simoni says. „The atmoshere is super“. Nevertheless his shape is not the best, really. „I'm torn between road and mountainbike races“. Gilberto would like to be competitive and is preparing himself accuratly for this great event in South Tyrol. „I'm sure it will be a tough ride and I don't know what I have to expect. I'm ready for a holiday, really“. Simoni will continue his season on the road in August again.
